ABSTRACT

An annotated bibliography of journals and newsletters on non-formal education and development, intended for those actively involved in the field, updates an earlier bibliography on the subject. This bibliography contains 609 entries, each annotated and with information on availability. Cross-references are provided for publications which may be available under more than one title. Annotations indicate how often each publication appears and in what language(s) each is published. Countries of origin include nations in Europe; Asia; Africa; the Middle East; the Caribbean; and North, Central and South America; as well as Australia; the Philippines; Fiji; Papua New Guinea; and New Caledonia. Subject areas include education, human service delivery, development projects and concerns, literacy efforts, credit unions, social science issues, rural development, women, media, appropriate technology, social welfare, agriculture, environmental issues, traditional crafts, health education, and family planning. Material is presented without subsection divisions. (MH)

This series of Annotated Bibliographies is published by the Non-Formal Education Information Center in cooperation with the Agency for International Development, Bureau of Science and Technology, Office of Education.

FOREWORD

Through its series of Annotated Bibliographies, the Non-Formal Education Information Center seeks to facilitate the sharing of materials among those actively engaged in non-formal education for development. The field of non-formal education is being built not only by a diverse transnational network of researchers and practitioners, but also by persons who are themselves the beneficiaries of non-formal education. For this reason, relevant literature is burgeoning from a variety of sources often eluding those most eager to access it.

Periodical literature is often valued highly because of the current nature of the information it contains. The NFE Center at Michigan State University has an unusually large collection of lesser known journals and periodicals related to non-formal education and development which it wishes to share with readers through this bibliography. This publication is an update of Occasional Paper #5: Journals and Newsletters on Non-Formal Education and Development: A Selected Annotated Bibliography compiled by Lynn C. Schlueter and Jim Fritz which was made available in 1979.

It has been compiled from the resource collection of the Non-Formal Education Information Center and is the twelfth in our series of annotated bibliographies.

No. 1 Women in Development

No. 2 Non-Formal Education and Health

No. 3 Literacy and Basic Education

No. 4 Projects, Training, and Strategies for Generating Income

No. 5 Managing Development Projects

No. 6 Children: Health, Education, and Change

No. 7 Non-Formal Education and the Handicapped in Developing Countries

No. 8 Appropriate Technology

No. 9 Nutrition and Food--Education, Policy, and Practice

No. 10 Non-Formal Education and Agriculture

No. 11 Acquiring Financial Resources for NFE Projects

No. 12 Journals and Newsletters on Non-Formal Education and Development

The materials included in this bibliography have been brought to our attention by persons in the worldwide NFE network. We have included full information on document sources to assist readers in acquiring items of interest.

Special acknowledgement is due to Sharon Cummings who undertook the difficult task of typing the camera-ready copy. In recognition of those who have contributed to this publication the last page lists individuals who have served on the Center staff between 1976 and 1983.

We welcome suggestions from our readers.
